

ST. MARK'S SCHOOL OF TEXAS

Senior Awards Announced

5/27/2014

On Friday, May 23, 2014, the Marksmen of the Class of 2014 donned their white dinner jackets and walked across the stage on the Cecil & Ida Green Commencement Theater, crossing the threshold from student to alumni. That evening Eugene McDermott Headmaster Arnie Holtberg announced the recipients of the three Major Awards:

The J.B.H. Henderson Citizenship Cup Award is made by the faculty and presented by the Head of Upper School to the senior who has genuine concern for others and who is dedicated to the ideals of honor and justice. This year the faculty found it impossible to decide between two nominees and so award the Citizenship Award to two members of the Class of 2014.

Dylan Clark shares his J.B.H. Henderson Citizenship Cup with his family

*The first recipient is an individual who makes things happen and whose character is above reproach. He lives life to the fullest while exhibiting great humility. His optimism and mature perspective carry many a day. A member of Cum Laude Society, he combines an exceptional mind and verbal dexterity with wit and social awareness. He too has earned Presidential Volunteer Service Awards. His social consciousness and sense of responsibility are reflected by his serving as President of the Green Club. But it is as a journalist that his commitment to justice and honor show through. As editor-in-chief of The ReMarker, he has led the newspaper to cover topics on human rights, equity, fairness, and respectful behavior, including a front-page story on Lee Smith '65, our first African-American student. Dylan Clark is our first Citizenship Award Recipient.
